

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a semiconductor laser device provided with a semiconductor laser element for outputting a laser beam having a plurality of oscillation longitudinal modes at a stimulated Brillouin scattering threshold or less, a submount formed by diamond and set between the semiconductor laser element and a carrier each configured to enable a highly efficient transfer of heat between the semiconductor laser device components.

10092512.030802